This will make the brush harder to use, which can be a good thing if you have a small area of the image that you want to clean up. Brush Stroke Shape: Changing the brush stroke shape allows you to round off the corners of the brush and increase or decrease the size of the brush. You may want to play around with these settings to get the look you are after. If you are using brushes, you can customize them using the Appearances panel. Click Appearance > Brushes and then in the Color area of the panel you can select a new brush. Click Brushes & Patterns > Noise and choose a noise brush. Brushes: There are a variety of brushes included with Photoshop. For a beginner, it is best to stick with the default brushes. At least 25 killed, 1000 homes damaged in bushfires The fires were still burning out of control on Tuesday morning, with life flight helicopters still preparing to evacuate the injured while crews battled to extinguish the flames. Around 450 firefighters were on the ground, with more planes on standby, as volunteer groups coordinated their efforts. The Brisbane Airport fire had grown significantly overnight, with the DFO requesting the airport close its runway for several hours, thus affecting many arrivals and departures. By 7.50pm AEDT, the fire was still burning strongly in bushland to the north of Brisbane Airport, after fanned by strong wind gusts which were complicating containment efforts. More than 20 homes were gutted by the fires - and the Lion Creek Restoring of Bushland Group has begun a major clean-up operation, delivering teams of volunteers to the site to collect as much rubbish as possible before clearing the area. Mick Noye, a volunteer with the group, said several small fires had started after the blaze. One resident at Windsor/Yatala, which is next to the airport, said she could hear the roar of fire engines as they continued to battle the out-of-control blaze. "It got busy again about 4pm, the fire was intense," she said. "There's a lot of fire trucks here." However, a Brisbane Airport spokesman said the airport was still open. "We still have two runways open at this time," he said. "We are still receiving arrivals and one of the runways was cleared to land right at 5pm [AEDT] yesterday. "At this stage we have a fully functioning terminal, with service to our regular domestic and international flights." The DFO says it has asked airlines and visitors heading to the airport on Tuesday to check their flights with their airline for any changes. All Queensland airports and major roads are open as usual, and the Australian Transport Safety Bureau confirmed there were no reports of any deaths or injuries on roads after the bushfires. Federal Transport Minister, Darren Chester, has called for anyone in the fire affected area to remain calm and avoid engaging in bushfire survival. "There are no immediate plans to evacuate any communities at this time and people should remain inside their homes during daylight hours," he said. As the bushfires continued to burn through the night into Tuesday morning, At
